Advice

Insurance-related advice

A strategic advisor who is available to provide a professional and impartial second opinion at any time.

Our services

consulas offers you flexible and professional advisory services on all insurance-related matters.

Strategic advice

consulas will be your trusted advisor, your confidant for impartial second opinions, and your coach.

Interim management

consulas can act as a temporary risk and insurance coordinator or take on risk and insurance management projects.

Insurance management

consulas can act as your risk and insurance coordinator. A consulas specialist will act as a direct contact for all your insurance-related questions and handles day-to-day activities in your interest in collaboration with your insurance broker or your insurers, while you continue to take the decisions.

Your advantages

- professional and independent advice
- comprehensible, transparent and open communication
- customized services
- flexible and affordable solutions
- you decide when you need our professional advice

Check-up

Organization, structure and processes

A specialist who checks the effectiveness and efficiency of your insurance management.

Our services

We help you analyze the organization, structure and processes of your existing risk and insurance management in just three steps. At the same time, our optimization proposals generate clear added value.

The procedure can be summed up as follows:

- 1 Initial assessment of the existing organization, structure as well as internal and external processes of your current risk and insurance management.
- 2 Analysis and evaluation of the information attained.
- 3 Submission of proposals for optimization of the Risk and Insurance Management.

Your advantages

- cost savings through greater efficiency
- interactive and structured initial assessment structures limits expenditure
- independent and professional analysis
- many years experience collaborating with different types of companies (SMEs to large enterprises)
- modular service portfolio

Evaluation

of an insurance broker

The search for and selection of a service provider, for instance an insurance broker, does not necessarily have to be time-consuming and expensive.

Our services

consulas will evaluate a service provider on your behalf. That reduces the time required to a minimum for you. Thanks to our good knowledge of the market and its players and based on well-structured and software-supported processes, we conduct efficient, independent and transparent evaluations.

We tailor the scope of the evaluation to your needs. Essentially, an evaluation involves the following steps:

- initial assessment and definition of the service you are looking for
- request for proposal of the service / analysis and rating of the offers
- discussion of the results / presentation by selected service providers
- final report as the basis for your decision, implementation

Your advantages

- optimization of the total cost of risk
- professional and objective evaluation of your service provider
- simple and well-structured processes
- transparent presentation of results and recommendation
- optimum time management, allowing you to focus on your core business
