

INTERNATIONAL OPERATIVE SERVICES

INTRODUCTION

Worldwide operating companies are facing increasing dangers from terrorism, unstable internal political circumstances, natural disasters as well as negative impacts from organised criminal activities in the countries of their business operations.

As a result of those potential risks, business interruptions or serious incidents are triggered, which do not only lead to short-term financial losses, but under certain conditions may also result in fatal developments and may endanger a company's whole business structure.

Those kind of perils may be minimized or mitigated by a professional risk management process for which the services of i.b.s.[®] are an excellent choice to amplify the efficiency of internal or external managed security services.

For us, the the security of the integrity of all our clients assets is at the centre of every protection tasks. This also encompass the the saftey of the employees and the families of our clients, who may be exposed to the direct danger from kidnapping, attacks or other dangers to life and limb.

While i.b.s.[®] is providing governmental approved services for risk and security consultancy for international companies concerning comprehensive prevention processes on the one hand, we also providing operational expert teams to cover immediate dangerous situations on the other hand to achieve our holistic service approach.

By means of this synopsis, we would like to give a short presentation of the specific measures that our contractual partners can call upon.

ESCORT SERVICES FOR MILITARY AA&E

In today's security environment military forces depend on the ability to move quickly, both in a national as well as international context. Considering the variety of hybrid threats to secure supply chains in the 21st century it is a logical conclusion, that especially the transport of arms, ammunition and explosives (AA&E) and HAZMAT is not affiliated to perils like thievery, but also to sabotage and destruction by non-governmental actors.

While military security solutions for such transports are not available or applicable all times, commercial escort services for AA&E transports are reliable and cost effective solutions to minimize and mitigate potential threats for such essential logistic processes.

i.b.s.[®] leads the way in offering its governmental customers commercial Transport Protective Services tailored to their specific needs. i.b.s.[®] is an approved and certified private security provider and may assist worldwide with services as:

- PSS – Protective Security Service
- DDP – Dual-Driver Protective Service
- GSS – Greater Security Service
- CIS – Constant Surveillance Service
- SEV – Security Escort Vehicle
- ARG – Railed Armed Guard Surveillance Service
- MSS – Maritime Security Services

Our professional team is comprised primarily of former military and law enforcement personnel with decades of experience in protection, logistics and tactical industries. We customize our services based on the needs of each project, and we look forward to designing your comprehensive transport protection strategy with your unique needs in mind.

LOGISTIC SUPPORT & TRANSPORT OF MILITARY GOODS

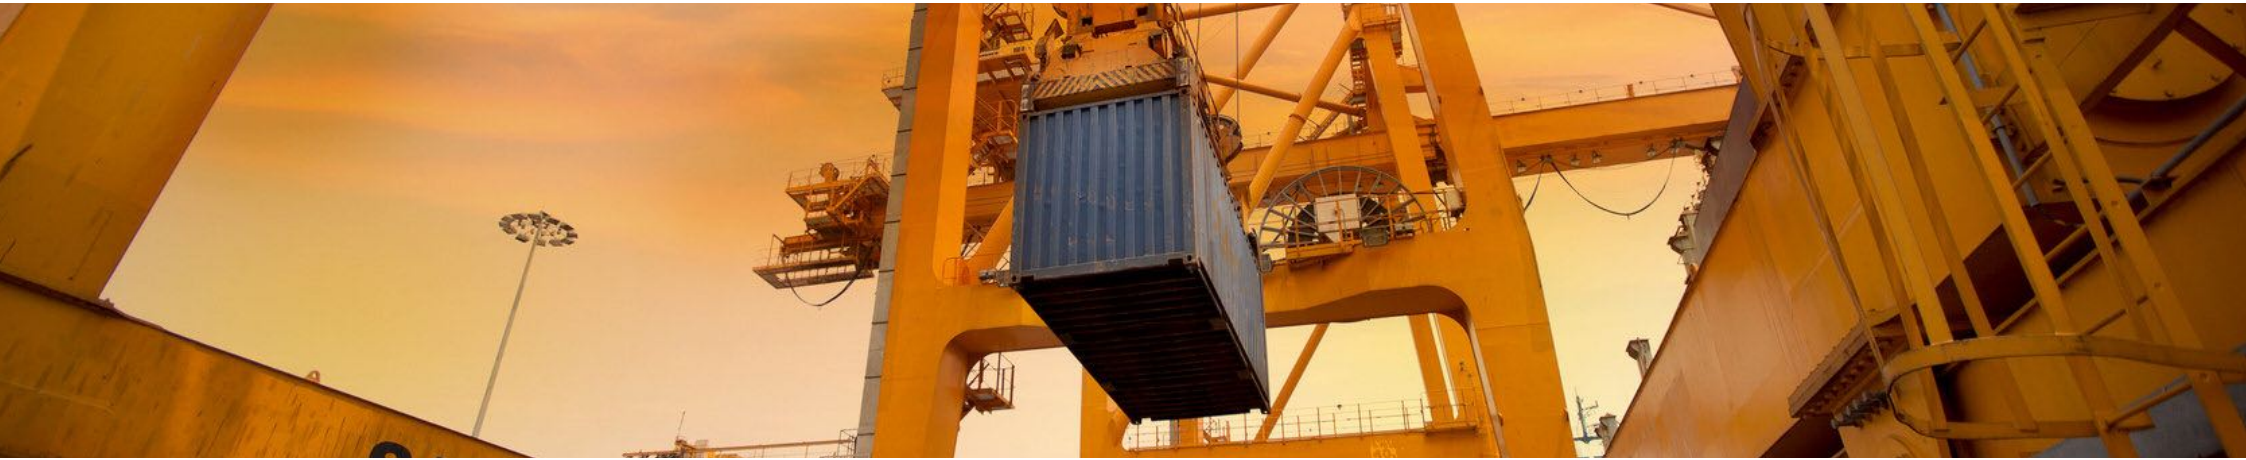

Military logistics require a reliable grade of serious planning and solution-focused movement of military cargo on a global scale. Transportation services for the military also involves the management of heavy lift and heavy haul project shipping, and under tight deadlines.

When it comes to military shipping, it's often necessary to move cargo to remote destinations. These unique operations require the flexibility of transportation options by air, land, sea and waterways and often intermodal transportation to get the job done. Transporting helicopters, tanks, fighter planes and other oversized cargo across the world requires the knowledge and expertise of an experienced and trustworthy partner, who is able to design a working logistic process.

i.b.s.[®] vast global freight forwarding network, experienced and trustworthy staff and exceptional customer service make us the right choice for major military transportation projects.

We works with you in detail to ensure our services meet your specific requirements and design a transport process to and from military bases and all major ports for your military cargo with our comprehensive understanding of military logistics requirements.

We won't leave you guessing or without answers and you'll always get a live person to talk to. By Flatbed, Heavy Haul or by Intermodal Transport, i.b.s.[®] will be happy to assist your military cargo transport needs.

SUPPLY CHAIN SECURITY

The security of your supply chain is vital to ensure the integrity of your products and services. Protecting your supply chain from threats including theft, burglary, fraud, hijacking, piracy and terrorism is a constant challenge.

Supply chain in logistics needs to be secure, resilient and well managed. No matter how extensive or complex your operational requirements may be, we can help you achieve excellent levels of security for it.

i.b.s.[®] share it's knowledge in managing potential risk resulting out supplier quality and performance, environmental responsibility, regulatory compliance, forecasting and more on a global scale. As supply chains constantly grow and become more complex, worldwide acting companies also face greater security risks and compliance challenges.

Our Supply Chain Security Solutions team understands these risks and challenges, and can provide a range of services to support your operational processes with the goal to get your deliveries on time in place in the required condition. Our services benefits:

- Enhanced contractual and legal compliance
- Minimized risk
- Increased cost-effectiveness
- Optimized Delivery Times
- More rapid response to remote deliveries

We can help you achieve complete supply chain visibility and indentify the potential risks and how to minimize or mitigate those and would be happy to assist your needs for enhanced supply chain security.

MILITARY & LAW ENFORCEMENT TRAININGS

Armed Forces around the globe have to cope with today's challenging military conflicts and focus their training requirements in the framework of DOTMLPF-policies more and more on realistic training environments which provides real-world experience. i.b.s.[®] military operational training solutions are providing such real-world experiences by customized, highly interactive scenarios to optimize soldiers' skills and judgment before they will be deployed in fields of military operations.

With its broad experience in the development of exercises and trainings in maritime environments the spectrum of i.b.s.[®] services ranges up from the supply of technically skilled staff through to material planning and services and the provision of complex equipment and staff solutions within the framework of national exercises or international maneuvers with amphibious components. This specifically includes:

- support with training projects in offshore and port areas
- provision of platforms at sea or for simulating targets or towed targets;
- active red celling in the maritime and urban environment;
- support with probing organizational or infrastructural security vulnerabilities;
- provision of realistic special platforms
- sophisticated support in visit, board, search, and seizure (VBSS) scenarios;
- system training on high-speed platforms.

i.b.s.[®] solutions' personnel have extensive backgrounds in strategic planning, applied and theoretical research, analysis, technical writing, systems analysis and design, concepts development in support of developing sophisticated training environments and validatable training results.

EXECUTIVE & PERSONAL PROTECTION

The potential dangers to life and limb caused by third parties have increased considerably both at home and abroad in recent years. For this reason, applied personnel protection has evolved from being purely a protection measure for politicians to a very necessary prevention measure – also for non-political and socially prominent people.

Our employees, experienced experts from former military and police special forces, can give a comprehensive protection through:

- security training
- sophisticated risk analysis
- risk mitigation consultancy
- investigation operations
- development of protection concepts
- armed escort services at home and abroad

You can concentrate completely on the day-to-day running of your business and private life, and on your family through our planning of individual danger and weak point analyses, to creating an individual protection concept, and to discreet implementation of targeted protection measures.

Understatement and professionalism combined with the competence and dependability demonstrated by our employees – this is how i.b.s.[®] provides you with effective personnel protection management, in which the word “security” is not simply a word.

MARITIME SECURITY & SAFETY

In the recent years the terms of security & safety has gain substantial importance within the maritime domain. From risk consultancy services, to security trainings for onshore staff and crews onboard to the provision of armed security teams – all has become an industry standard.

Already in the year 2004 we integrated the i.b.s.[®] MARITIME DIVISION into our company to offer shipping companies and merchant ship owners the possibility of effective protection against the criminal activities of large criminal groups at sea. This department deals solely with the protection of merchant shipping and yachts at sea and the MRU Maritime Response Unit has been created within this department.

Our MRU units comprise of specialists with specialist knowledge, not only based upon ISPS Code and BMP Best Management Practices, which are the focus for deployed armed protection teams (“on-board-service”) on merchant ships. And these deployments are also carried out in close cooperation with local security bodies, especially at HoA and the IOR.

Our MRU team members are all drawn from former special services within the military and police and abstain in principle from inappropriate, escalation-promoting measures and react appropriately to the respective situation.

We would be more than happy to offer more information in personal discussions about this special service aimed at increasing the security of your crews, ships and freight. We can also present you with detailed information about local conditions for embarking and disembarking of our MRU protection teams.

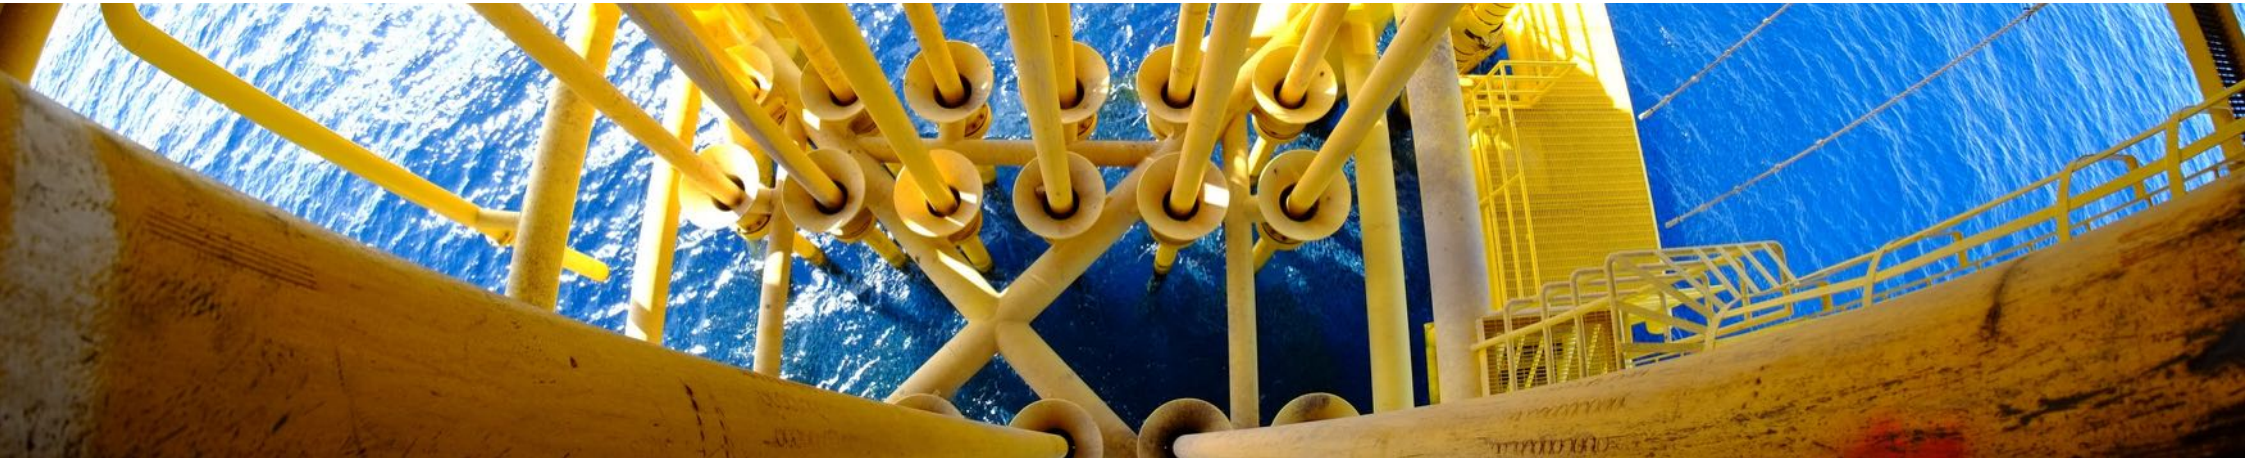

YACHT SERVICES

To give confidence to the owners of yachts, their family members and crews so that they feel safe on sea journeys, on request, our specialists will plan your journey according to your requirements and, if necessary, even several months in advance of your trip.

The most up-to-date information concerning criminal activities on the high seas is collected by us, evaluated and analysed. These danger analyses relate to high-risk as well as pirate-infested areas and will supply you with useful information for a safe stay on board and also on land.

Our motivated, discreet as well as highly professional members of our MRU protection teams who have gained appropriate experience in security services on board merchant ships and yachts with successful track records could embark and disembark your yacht providing a comprehensive anti-piracy escort. Legal regulations and guidelines from the respective flag states apply to these armed and unarmed services.

In addition, our experienced specialists do not only ensure the security of yacht owners, their families and guests at sea, but can also be discreet escorts on land. In this way, our clients do not only enjoy their sea journey, but their trips on land can also be enjoyed undisturbed in safety.

OIL & GAS INDUSTRY

i.b.s.[®] is providing comprehensive security solutions to solve business challenges in the oil and gas industry. We partner with our clients to ensure employee safety and well-being, as well as mitigate risks to property and assets.

We assist our clients in the oil and gas industry to improve their business operations from exploration and extraction to transportation and distribution. Our expert knowledge, compounded with our cutting-edge security solutions not only secure our clients' workforce and assets, but keep them compliant with government regulations as well. goal is the protection of the world's oil & gas companies through state-of-the-art security solutions.

With the implementation of modern tailored to the needs concepts we ensure the health and safety of employees and safeguard properties and business assets from risks such as terrorist and piracy threats, while also cost-effectively addressing issues of compliance with governmental regulation and prevention standards, as well respecting industry codes.

With decades of experience in the private security sector and its own strong HSE policy, i.b.s.[®] meets current safety and security challenges for all types of oil and gas facilities, from oil rigs, drill ships, FPSO's, tankers and terminals to refineries, petrochemical plants and corporate headquarters around the world.

We are passionately committed to helping our clients from the oil and gas industry around the globe to improve their business operations and protect their profits by achieving their safety and security goals through cost effective measures.

i.b.s.[®] has the skills and a comprehensive portfolio of experience to understand the needs of and how to develop the skills of human, organizations and companies for optimal performance results regarding efficient risk awareness and risk management processes.

For this reason and after an intensive, systematic examination of the applicability in terms of a security clearance as well as professionalism review, i.b.s.[®] was granted as the only German security company worldwide with a formal licence by the Belgian Ministry of Interior, to offer and conduct consultancy service in the field of security and risk management to its clients on an international level. Such services are related to the regulated security services and subject to prohibition by the Belgian Law of 10th April 1990.

Based on the individual requirements of our clients we elaborate tailor-made concepts to achieve their specific goals adequately and comprehensively for a solid risk identification with risks management lifecycle. We design our services according to your needs and requirements including best practices for training and support, which will help your business to reach its full potential without being harmed by security-related incidents.

Furthermore, we assist you by identifying possible measures for improvement which can be implemented, and quantify the benefits to you resulting from these improvements for an up-to-date risk mitigation and risk management approach especially in the framework of national and international events and conferences like e.g. OSCE Meeting, G20 Conference, NATO Conference.

We of course also support you in implementing any recommended security solution and can assist you with operational security solutions – no matter where or when.

As companies and organizations expanding their world wide footprint also in regions with only little security infrastructure, it has become increasingly important to have up-to-date measures for the security and safety of employee travelers and expats in place. We assist you hereby by creating or optimizing your travel risk management.

Such a travel risk management has to rely on timely information on health, safety, crime, terrorism, economic conditions and political developments at a local level, and the ability to visualize this information alongside employee travel itineraries to better understand the organization's risk exposure.

We are supporting you by identifying the relevant information you need and harmonizing your business processes and the necessary awareness of your employees and expats. This includes:

- threats and risk for business travellers, expats and project employees
- analyzing existing travel risk processes
- identification of business harming developments of the local security situation
- preparation of business travelers, expats and project employees
- identification of necessary emergency procedures
- insurance solutions and medical care
- perusal of existing travel risk management procedures with legal requirements

We are able to deliver also tailored travel briefs and provide bespoke training courses to increase personal safety awareness by building confidence when conducting business and working abroad. Our traveller safety training then will prepare individuals for the travel risks they are likely to encounter by traveling to and within the country of assignment.

We will be very pleased to offer you a non-binding personal meeting showing you the possibilities offered by our company and guarantee you absolute discretion up from the first contact.

PENETRATION TEST

Security breaches and any related interruptions in the performance of services or applications, can result in direct financial losses, threaten organizations' reputations, erode customer loyalties, attract negative press, and trigger significant fines and penalties.

Effective protection against danger can only be implemented through a well-thought out and appropriately effective functioning security installation, which is an important component of every company's security.

To achieve this, i.b.s.[®] specialists will examine all existing security measures in place within your company, starting with the external and forefield security right up to the external and internal security installations directly affecting the object or will offer consultation to integrate currently non-existing risk protection. Our Penetration testing offers many benefits, allowing you to:

- Intelligently manage vulnerabilities
- Avoid the cost of operational downtime of your business assets
- Meet regulatory requirements and avoid fines
- Preserve corporate image and customer loyalty

Then by means of an allied risk and weak point analysis our specialists can discover within your company security loopholes and document these for you. Areas of risk are then promptly discovered.

As a result, security loopholes can be sealed prior to large damage occurring and retaining company capital can be actively achieved.

PREVENTION ANALYSIS

By performing in-depth risk analysis, i.b.s.[®] enable you better to assess the risk profile of your business and the likelihood of becoming the victim of criminal business activity. Such an analysis can provide valuable insights into how to implement, adapt or improve a fraud prevention programme.

The ideal protection for company personnel and assets exists in preventive measures, which are targeted at making sure that an unalterable existing risk does not change into an actual threat.

Changing security requirements are to be countered through a constant and continuous examination of the existing security concept. The central point of interest is the well-balanced relationship of:

- synergetic effects in all company departments
- appropriate effectiveness
- economic viability
- sustainability
- undisturbed production and business processes

All relevant security sectors are recorded and evaluated within the framework of a risk analysis, so that an existing security system can be optimised or appropriate new concepts developed.

i.b.s.[®] offers in this connection a large portfolio of products, which cover everything from creating a complete risk analysis, to prevention measures and training of personnel prior to overseas stays.

GATHERING INFORMATIONS

In the age of ever-changing risk, protecting global business assets is a key challenge for any organisation. In this framework i.b.s.[®] provide its clients with the insight views and current, necessary information to resolve the issues and crises that may hit global business structures.

The overriding principle for successful crisis management is to not allow a developing situation to become a crisis. Decisions about how to proceed must be implemented promptly suitable measures carried out to avoid financial losses and personal injuries. The offer to our clients:

- specialist insight and analysis
- supporting readiness and resilience
- global footprint
- local expertise

The principle behind every decision is to retrieve up-to-date and secure information. The evaluation is made based on the information acquired and the situation evaluation is implemented based upon this up-to-date information. Any vastly deteriorating situation makes the targeting of information requirements so much more important, and in our experience decisions are then made under time pressure. The key element for appropriate decisions and situation-adjusted measure planning requires a continuous monitoring situation in the country of location.

By using our company's broad information network our company is able to offer support to its contractual parties in the creating an up-to-date situation report, an evaluation of the relevant security aspects and the planning of measures relevant to the location. We would be happy to give you more information to this in a personal discussion.

INTERNATIONAL INVESTIGATIONS
